Our Angel Mom

ATONAH/SANDY-1, Mae Dora McAftee Weeks, left this earthly home, June 3, 2002, surrounded by my loving family, at my daughter's home in Sandy at the age of 97.

I was born February 20, 1905, to James and Juliette Taylor McAftee in Eureka, UT. I was raised in the Utah basin in a log cabin, and went to school at Heber, UT. I married my childhood sweetheart, Lawrence Joseph Weeks, on February 20, 1926, in Roosevelt, UT. We made our home in Aftonch, UT, where we raised our family. Our marriage was solemnized September 6, 1968 in the Salt Lake LDS Temple. My greatest joy was my children and grandchildren, and many friends from Aftonch. I was a "Gold Star Mother", member of the American Legion, and the Daughters of the Utah Pioneers. I loved to raise flowers, and garden. My hobbies were crocheting, quilting, genealogy, and writing my history.

I moved to Salt Lake City in 1986, eventually moving in with my daughter, Florence. My life spanned from pioneer days to the modern technology of today.

Survived by my children, Floyd (Vivian) Weeks, CA; Florence (Tom) Nunley, Sandy; Ruby (Carl) Smithson, Salt Lake City; 20 grandchildren, 56 great-grandchildren; nine great-great-grandchildren; sister-in-law, Fred Nielson, Roosevelt. Jennie N. Weeks

VERNAL/SALT LAKE CITY—Our beloved mother, Jennie N. Weeks, age 98, passed away February 5, 2001, in Salt Lake City, Utah.

She was born June 16, 1902 a daughter of Frank Leland and Mary Eliza Roberts Noel in Jackson, New Mexico.

She married Otis Heber Weeks April 27, 1922 in the Salt Lake Temple. He preceded her in death on August 1, 1973.

Jennie's parents came to Vernal, Utah from Farmington, New Mexico in 1917, they raised 14 children and her father operated a trading post at Sa Noss Tee, New Mexico on the Navaho Indian Reservation for ten years. Her father, F.L. Noel, was Uintah County Clerk for twelve years. She was the second child in her family.

She was very active in the church and community affairs. During the second World War, many servicemen hitch-hiking or stranded in Vernal, were brought to her for rest, food and shelter. She took in many other people and shared money, shelter and food. She loved the mountains and her forest summer home at Deer Lodge in the Uinta Mountains. She traveled with zeal and loved to see new places. She was well read and studied a wide range of subjects. She taught herself to paint landscape scenes in her eighties and many of her paintings grace the homes of her family. She graduated from the Uintah Academy and a business school in Salt Lake City. She authored and co-authored many family history books that were placed in the Library of Congress and other major libraries throughout the United States. She served as vice president of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers Uintah County Chapter when the book titled "Builders of Uintah" was written and published. She and a group of other women started a genealogical library which was located in the Uintah County Library. She organized a program where scouting could be taught in the LDS Church Primary organization which she submitted to the Uintah Stake Primary president, Sarah Bingham for review. Sister Bingham submitted the program to the general president of the Primary in Salt Lake City and the Blazer scouting program had it's first beginnings.

She was employed by the Uintah County Welfare Department and assisted with this program to assist needy families for many years. One of the first local cameramen was managed by her for three years. She moved from Vernal in 1953 to pursue her genealogical research and became a professional genealogist for 40 years. Before leaving Vernal she was president of Marine Mothers during the World War II. The Marine Mothers planted a lovely rose garden in tribute to the young men who served as Marines at the grounds of the Uintah County Courthouse.

She is survived by her daughters, Jennis (Ted) Solisbury of Orem; and Alta Rae (Lloyd) Winward of Vernal; three brothers, Royd Noel of Ogden; Donald Noel of Provo; Chadwick Noel of St. George; sister, Virginia (Beldon) Reynolds of Cody, WY; 14 grandchildren, 40 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandson. She was preceded in death by her husband, Otis; sons, Noel Edmund, and Otis Heber Jr.; daughters, Louise Newby and Nola Mae Steele, ten brothers and sisters.

She resided at the Salt Lake Home and the Woodland Park Care Center in Salt Lake City the past six years of her life. The family expresses their sincere appreciation for the kind and loving care the employees provided for her comfort and care.
